Small business owners are more likely to be successful if they are able to attract and retain customers. This is why it is important to have a strong marketing strategy in place. A good marketing strategy will help you to identify your target market, understand their needs, and develop a plan to reach them. It will also help you to track your progress and make adjustments as needed. By having a strong marketing strategy, you can increase your sales and grow your business.

Dioxins found in chicken eggs near Cavite waste plant

By Brandon B. Shaw

CHICKEN eggs produced in a province in central Luzon where an incinerator plant is now closing have been found to contain dioxins, the carcinogenic and tissue-damaging chemical. The findings, reported by scientists at the University of California, San Diego, suggest that eggs from the area may be contaminated with the chemical, which is a known carcinogen.

The researchers found that eggs from the area contained dioxins at levels up to 100 times higher than the levels found in eggs from other areas.

As a result of this analysis, we have shown that the \mathcal{H}_∞ norm of the system is bounded by the \mathcal{H}_2 norm of the system. This result is useful in the design of control systems, as it allows us to use the \mathcal{H}_2 norm to bound the \mathcal{H}_∞ norm of the system. This is particularly useful in the design of robust control systems, where the \mathcal{H}_∞ norm is often used to measure the robustness of the system.

Judge junks bid vs NLEx toll

By [illegible]

A judge has rejected a bid to challenge the NLEx toll, ruling that the toll is a valid exercise of the state's police power. The bid was filed by a group of truckers who argued that the toll was an unconstitutional taking of property without just compensation. The judge, however, found that the toll was a reasonable and necessary measure to fund the state's infrastructure and that it did not constitute a taking of property. The judge's decision is a significant victory for the state and its efforts to maintain its roads and bridges.

SAF pulled out of quarrying checkpoints

The South African Police (SAP) has been pulled out of quarrying checkpoints, as the government seeks to reduce the presence of law enforcement in the mining sector. The decision was made by the Minister of Police, who stated that the SAP's role is to maintain law and order, not to act as a security force for the mining industry. The government is currently working on alternative security arrangements for the mining sector, which may include the use of private security forces. The decision is expected to have a significant impact on the mining industry, which has long relied on the SAP for protection at its checkpoints.

EO on national ID system challenged

MANILA, April 22 (PNA) — A petition filed with the Supreme Court on Monday challenges Executive Order (EO) 100, which mandates the creation of a national identification system.

The petition, filed by the Philippine Association of Human Rights Lawyers (PAHRL), seeks to nullify EO 100, issued by President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo on January 20, 2006.

The petition argues that EO 100 is unconstitutional as it violates the right to privacy and the right to life, liberty and property.

It also claims that the EO is an overreach of executive power and that the creation of a national ID system is a legislative function.

The petition is set for a preliminary hearing on May 1, 2006.
